What is the Super Co-contribution?

For the purposes of the PSS, the Super Co-contribution is a contribution from the Australian Government to assist eligible individuals who earn less than $60,342 a year and make personal superannuation contributions to save for their retirement.

The Super Co-contribution replaces the tax rebate for members earning less than $60,342 per annum.

Who is eligible for the Super Co-contribution?

You may be entitled to a Government Super Co-contribution if you:

- > made personal contributions to the PSS on or after 1 July 2004 (provided you are not entitled to claim a tax deduction for the contributions);
- > have lodged an income tax return for the financial year;
- > have an assessable income and reportable fringe benefits less than $60,342 in the financial year;
- > are not a temporary resident;
- > are less than 71 years old at the end of the financial year the contributions were made;
- > have received employer superannuation support during that year of income (or were entitled to such support); and
- > are not wholly or substantially self employed.

What amount will I get?

The maximum amount the Government will pay into your superannuation fund in a financial year is $1,500, payable to persons with total income of less than $30,342 a year. The maximum Super Co-contribution phases down with increasing income, at a rate of 5 cents in the dollar and cuts out completely for individuals who earn $60,342 or more per annum.

Example

When your income is more than $30,342 but less than $60,342 in a year of income, your Super Co-contribution will be adjusted based on your income and how much you personally contribute. For example, if you are eligible and your income is $44,342 and you make personal super contributions of $1,000 during the relevant year, you will be entitled to a Super Co-contribution of $800.

How do I qualify?

The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) will determine if you are entitled to receive a Super Co-contribution based on:

- > the assessment of your income tax return;
- > any reported Fringe Benefit Tax Entitlements; and
- > the member contributions reported by us to the ATO for a particular financial year.

Where is it paid?

If you are a contributing member to the PSS at the time the ATO determines you are entitled to receive a Super Co-contribution the amount will be paid into the PSS Fund. If you have ceased to be a contributing member to the PSS at that time then you will need to make arrangements with the ATO to have the Co-contribution paid into another fund. The ATO will advise you of this situation should the PSS be unable to accept the Co-contribution.

How does it affect my superannuation?

Any Super Co-contribution amount received by the PSS will have Fund earnings applied at the relevant Fund rate and the amount must be paid as a lump sum. It will not receive any additional employer benefit and cannot be used to purchase a pension upon retirement.
